

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A fold open display box for storing and displaying objects such as toys, comprises a transparent display window or a mesh screen and a fold open case. The window may be made of plastic or cellophane paper. Additional windows, with a protective transparent material covering each of the windows, located on other sides of the fold open display box may allow a full 360 degrees view of an object in the box.